Report of the Trustees of the Town Library.

The enlarged appropriation by the town at the last annual meeting, has enabled the Trustees to make important additions to the contents of the Library and to furnish increased facilities for their circulation. Our shelves, which have been relatively deficient in books of reference, are now enriched by Haydyn's Dictionary of Dates, the Library of Universal Knowledge, an Encyclopedia in fifteen volumes and the latest edition of the Land and Book, with its superior illustrations. The Century has also been added to the list of magazines.

Since the first of May 1886, the Library has been open twice a week; Saturday afternoon and Thursday evening. This arrangement has proved an accommodation especially to families remote from the village. The whole number of books issued by the Librarian during the year is 2929—the average per week 55, an increase on the circulation of the last year of 664. The number issued on Thursday evenings is 749—average eighteen per week. One hundred and twenty-two families have drawn books. No books have been lost.

A supplement to the catalogue of eight pages, giving titles and authors and embracing all additions to the Library since March 1885, has been prepared by Misses Stearns & McKean of this Board, which is now printed and ready for sale and distribution. The gathering and arrangement of the materials for this publication, involving much perplexing labor, has been a gratuitous service on the part of these ladies. The patrons of the Library will notice that the supplement can easily be appended to the catalogue in their hands, furnishing a complete list of the whole collections. With these augmented facilities for obtaining books, the Trustees are confident that the growing interest of our citizens in the town Library will not abate and that our youth will realize more than ever the benefits, which the Library is intended to confer.

In this connection the rule requiring the use of delivery cards by all who draw books, should not be forgotten. The neglect of this rule begets confusion and subjects the Librarian to much unnecessary labor.

The whole number of books obtained for the Library since the last report is 148, of which 122 volumes were purchased at a cost of $139.97 and 26 have been presented by friends of the institution, viz

The Wind of Destiny. A. S. Hardy.

Eventful Nights in Bible History, Bp. Lee.

By Miss Anne M. Means, Boston, Mass.

A Series of Rollo Books, 14 volumes.

By Mr. B. L. Goodwin, Newton, Mass.

The Sailor Boy.

The Pirate of the Three Cutters. Capt. Marryatt.

Lights and Shadows of Scottish Life. Arthur Austin.

Hist'y of the 1st N. H. Reg't. in the War of the Revolution. Fred. Kidder.

By Daniel F. Secomb, Esq.

Cowper's Poems, 3 vols. published at Amherst in 1808. J. Cushing.

The Arabian Nights Entertainments.

Index of Laws of New Hampshire, 1679-1883. Edw. Aiken.

Reports of Commissioner of Education. 2 vols.

Circulars of Information. Bureau of Education, 19 Pamphlets.

From the Library of the late Mrs. Elizabeth S. White

Mr. James R. Stearns and Miss P. E. McKean, by the limitations of the term of office retire from the Board of Trustees at this date. As the latter for reasons, which are imperative, will decline a re-appointment, her associates of the Board now put on record their recognition of the valuable services, which she has rendered to the Library in the last four years.

A statement of Receipts and Expenditures will be found in the subjoined abstract of her account, which has been duly audited.

REPORT

OF THE

BOARD OF EDUCATION,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1887.

At a special meeting of the district on the 12th of March 1886, Mrs. Sophia E. Dodge was elected a member of the board for three years. In the evening of the same date the board was organized with Mr. C. L. Trow as president: Mrs. Sophia Dodge, secretary, and Dr. H. D. Hicks was appointed treasurer. Mr. Trow was appointed to provide fuel and supplies and the labor of visiting schools divided among the members of the Board.

We have been fortunate the past year in the selection of teachers, to whom in great part is due any improvement of the schools over previous years.

The employment of written examinations has resulted in obtaining a class of superior teachers, and it is the intention of the Board to gradually increase the difficulty, and enlarge the scope of the examination papers, and so raise the standard of qualifications required of instructors that only the best fitted to teach will be employed.

The high school shows advancement over preceding years, and commendation is due Mr. Moor for his efforts in that place. The lower school also has been well taught and governed. Miss Quinlan deserves recognition for her efforts in No. 2. Miss Howe in No. 3, and Miss Hartshorn in No. 6. In No. 8, Miss Boutelle has labored hard and has wrought a distinct advancement in her scholars.

The reading in this school is much improved, and in the other studies the pupils show a better understanding of the matter and a more careful training in the reasoning powers.

Miss Holden in No. 9, Miss Holbrook of this and No. 7, Miss Keith of No. 7, and Miss Spaulding of No. 5, deserve great praise. In No. 10, Miss Trow is much liked and has shown herself a valuable acquisition to our educational force. Miss Proctor of No. 4 must not be forgotten in this roll of honor, and last but by no means least, the assistant in the High School, Miss Tuttle, the efficient coadjutor of the principal. We have however our shadowy side to hold up to view.

The discipline of the school should find its chief aid at the home. If a teacher is worthy, (and the board intend to engage no other,) her conduct of the school should be unquestioned by the parents, and her qualifications never discussed in the home circle. Children take their manners and tone from their parents, and if the latter uphold the former in their breaches of discipline, and question in the hearing of the pupil the ability of the teacher to instruct, the prosperity and good order of the school is at an end.

There is no pupil in our schools who may not learn from the teacher, if he tries to do his best, and obeys the rules of the school. There are no teachers employed in our schools who are unable to instruct in the branches taught. If the parents are doubtful as to a teacher's attainments there is nothing to be gained and every thing to be lost by allowing their children to form a like opinion. We are sorry to say that in some sections such a spirit is in existence, and hope that this statement of the case will lead thinking parents to correct the evil by all means in their power.

REPAIRS.

In addition to the small repairs needed each year, the Board have continued the work commenced last year of painting and papering the interior of the school-houses. The room at No. 5 has been papered and the rooms at Nos. 6, 7 and 10 have been painted and papered so that they now have a much more cheerful and home like look. While both of the rooms at No. 1 have been so changed by the painter that they now present a neat and attractive appearance comparing favorably with those in adjoining villages.

Additional repairs would have been made in other districts could competent help have been secured at the time desired. We hope to be able the coming year to paint and paper the inside of the buildings at Nos. 8 and 9, thus completing the work commenced.

We would also like to supply two or three school houses with new and comfortable seats in place of the uncomfortable wooden benches now in use.

This, in connection with the other necessary repairs, would probably involve an expenditure of about $200 for repairs the coming year.

ATTENDANCE.

The selectmen in their census for 1886, found 184 children between the ages of 5 and 15 years, 105 were boys and 79 girls.

The whole number found upon the school registers who attended school the past year, also the average daily attendance, is shown by the following figures:

The number over 15 years of age, 35 ; of this number, 20 attended school Dist. No. 1.

We think it the duty of parents to encourage the habit of punctuality, and regular attendance in their children.

Sickness may prevent, as has been the case in several of the schools. Three of the children in district No. 5, were absent six weeks or more in the Winter term on that account. In district No. 8 the school was closed at the end of the eighth week of the Spring term, for the same reason. The attendance at the Winter term in the Primary school was also decreased on account of sickness.

Considering the severe Winter, and other unfavorable circumstances, the average attendance has been equal to that of last year. We trust the next year a larger number will be found on the Roll of Honor.

INSTRUCTION.

As a teacher becomes the better acquainted with the capabilities of the scholars under her charge, the more valuable are her services. Acting upon this belief, eight of our teachers have been retained in the same school throughout the year, and two more have been in our employ for the same length of time in different schools.

We are well aware that we have paid our teachers more than the average of surrounding towns, but it has been our endeavor to retain our best teachers, when once secured, even if a small advance in wages was necessary. And we think we can say truly that our teachers have labored faithfully and earnestly for the welfare of the scholars under their charge, and if their compensation has been a little greater, than is received by many in a like grade of schools, we feel that it has been money well spent. The government in most of our schools has been excellent throughout the year. The scholars have been so interested in the customary work of the school room, that the best of order has been maintained without their feeling any restraint put upon them.

Good progress has been made in the different studies pursued. In reading we have noticed a marked improvement in the position taken by the pupils in the class, and in a general understanding of the lesson read. The scholars have been required to look up the definitions of all words not understood, for as they become the better acquainted with the author's meaning, the easier it becomes to convey that meaning to others.

In arithmetic, an explanation has been asked for at every step believing that one subject should be thoroughly understood before another is taken up.

In the High School several of the scholars have pursued the higher branches, and the instruction in these has been very satisfactory to your committee. In the other studies progress has been made.

We have encouraged the use of the blackboard and map whenever practicable, deeming them valuable aids in the schoolroom.
